was apparent that they lived in large cities or communities, and were far in advance of the red men in civilization. Professor Blake remarked that relies of an ancient race were numerous in California. They were found various localities in that State, but more particularly in the region of Sonora, which was the most interesting geologiccal section of California. One of the most remarkable features of that country was "Table Mountain," of which the speaker gave a description, illustrating it with blackboard sketches. He also described the valley that surrounded the mountain. It contains a river far below the bed of the ancient channel. In excavating the ancient gold drifts the miners had taken out relices of mamalia, and had also discovered evidences of art in the

Mr. Van Horn, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, has reported a bill to ganize a system of government in the Indian Territory, to be known as the Territory of Ok-la homa. The tribes in such Territory are to retain the rights secured to them by treaty. Subject to these, the Government of the Territory is to be vested in a Governor appointed by the President, a Secreta, ry appointed in like manner, and a Leg-islative Council composed of one mem-ber from each tribe of more than 500 persons, and an additional member for every 1000 persons, or by the chiefs of the tribes as selected by tribal usage. Every adult male Indian shall be enti-tled to vote for or be elected a member to the Council. The laws to be passed by the Territorial Conucil shall not interfere with the tribal organizalimited extent. Justices of the Territory and Courts are provided for in the usual manner, and the Legislative Council elects a Delegate to Congress. The bill appears to aim at combining the tribal with territorial government, and, should it succeed, would inaugurate a new mode of treating the Indian ques
